What is E-Waste

Together Lets Re-Construct the Planet Earth

THE Recycle

Where to Start?

Green amigoz is a concept that e waste refurbishing We collect from customers e-waste from site and refurbish from our unit.

An advantage of refurbishing e-waste is older components can take the place of new ones without compromising the quality of newly manufactured electronics. Consumers in love with technology won't notice any difference in quality when they buy a new electronic product manufactured using refurbished e-waste

Health Issues and Environment

E-waste contains over 1,000 toxic materials, which contaminate soil and ground water. Exposure can cause headache, irritability, nausea, vomiting, and eye pain. Recyclers may suffer liver, kidney and neurological disorders. Due to lack of awareness, they are risking their health and the environment as well.

Benefits

Cost savings: Refurbished computers are   often sold at a lower price than brand new ones. This means that businesses and individuals can purchase high-quality computing equipment for less money, making it easier to manage budgets.

Environmental Benefits: Refurbishing computers is an environmentally friendly practice, as it reduces electronic waste. This benefits the environment by reducing the number of computers that end up in landfills.

Reliable Equipment: Computers that have been refurbished have been tested and repaired to ensure they function properly. This means that businesses and individuals can purchase reliable computing equipment that will function as expected.

Access to up-to-date Technology: Refurbished computers can be upgraded to include the latest technology, such as faster processors and higher amounts of RAM. This means that businesses and individuals can access the same technology as newer computers, without having to pay the higher cost of a brand new device.

Contribution to Social Enterprise: Many organizations that refurbish computers are social enterprises, meaning that they have a positive impact on the community by providing jobs and training.
